

"NOT GUILTY!"

Such Is the Verdict of the Jury in Deciding the Charge Against My Violating the Regulations of the Health Department of the District of Columbia

I HAVE ALWAYS, in my thirty years' dealing with the Washington public, felt not guilty of ever desiring to sell any milk or cream that I should hesitate to use in my own house, and my success in the dairy business is sufficient evidence of this.

I have always co-operated in the fullest sense of the word with the efforts of the Health authorities, not only to maintain but to improve the standard of cleanliness, sanitation and the quality of dairy products.

I am, nevertheless, constrained to assert that the local laws are too rigid at certain times, that is when the supply of the immediate milk producers becomes insufficient to furnish the milk needed for the District of Columbia.

I am in favor of a national law governing the dairy business. A law which would not discriminate between milk in New York, Boston, or Washington.

The cost of milk to the consumer is too high in Washington at the present, and I am negotiating with some five hundred large dairy farms in the milk sections of Pennsylvania to have them take out permits to ship milk into the District of Columbia. And I am satisfied that I shall not only succeed in this but also in securing a much lower price and a much superior quality than has ever been known to the Washington public.

My dairy, and receiving stations in Frederick and Monrovia, Maryland, are conducted under the supervision of the Health Department in the strictest conformity with all its laws and regulations, and all milk or cream sold by me comes from licensed farms and tuberculin tested herds.
